OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

There can be no denying the fact that as far as expenditure by the Dominion on public works, other than the Canadian Pacific railway, in this Province is not what it should be, nor that which we have the just right to demand. It is true that British Columbia appears in the yearly accounts charged with sums of moneys as having been expended in this Province, amounting in the aggregate to a considerable amount. The expenditure, however, is not in excess of our contribution to the Dominion's exchequer. Heretofore, excepting the erection of the penitentiary and post office buildings at New Westminster and in this city, the expenditures in British Columbia have, for the most part, been confined to dredging and removing obstacles to navigation in our most important streams and in the harbor of Victoria. In this respect the contrast in the treatment accorded this province and those of the east is so very marked that it is high time for British Columbia to assert her rights. During the present session the information has been gathered from the answers given to questions by the ministers that an expenditure of $600,000 is contemplated on the Red river between Winnipeg and Selkirk, a distance of 27 miles (with a railway on either side of the stream), and the erection of wharves at Selkirk at a cost of $25,000. A further expenditure of $25,000 is contemplated at Owen Sound in harbor improvements. Last and previous years there were large sums of moneys voted for the improvement of the water frontage at Prince Arthur's Landing and deepening the channel of the Kaministiquia river, the total being in the hundreds of thousands. It is now proposed to deepen the St. Lawrence channel and to make Montreal harbor a free one so far as dues accruing therefrom to the Dominion government are concerned. The list could be extended almost indefinitely But as it is of more immediate interest to our readers to know what is being done in British Columbia it will readily be ascertained that practically nothing commensurate with our requirements has, as yet, been accomplished.

The opening for through traffic by the Canadian Pacific railway at an early date and the establishment of a line of steamships to ply between this province and China, Japan and the Australasian colonies will revolutionize trade channels that appeared to be so firmly established that nothing could disturb them. Victoria being the first port to be reached in the Dominion, as well as the last port prior to departure, in the new condition of affairs will become doubly important to the Dominion. Already the fourth port in Canada in point of revenue, it is safe to predict that, should the Oriental trade assume the proportions that many claim it will, the commerce of this port will yet assume vast dimensions. The question then suggests itself are we prepared to accommodate the trade that is certain to be poured in the lap of this city? The answer is a prompt response that we are not. If we desire to maintain our supremacy on the north Pacific, decisive action has to be taken, and that at once, to enlarge our harbor accommodation. Already entirely too circumscribed for our commerce, unless a change is made how can it be expected that our shipping is to increase, or that our merchants are to be able to retain the trade they have, after years of patient struggling, been enabled to establish? That the harbor can be enlarged is an admitted fact by everyone. The removal of the obstacles therein is of paramount importance. The accommodation could be greatly enlarged were the government to dispose of the Indian reserve, which occupies almost the entire foreshore on the opposite side of the harbor from the city. The requirements of the city's commerce demands that this should be accomplished. The land is of great value to the revenue from its sale would secure an equally suitable locality not far from the city, for the few who are now residing thereon, or may be entitled to recompense from its disposal. It is an eye-sore to the city, and a stumbling block to its progress. Now that the matter of Victoria retaining her status is one of life or death for her trade and commerce, it behooves our people to act, and that promptly. The city's representatives should be instructed to insist upon the Government taking action in the direction indicated. Once the lands are disposed, the Government doubtless would act to Victoria as it has elsewhere, and make such improvements in our harbor as the exigencies of the case demand. The few thousands already expended have been productive of much good; but a great deal has yet to be achieved ere we can claim for it the title of being a good harbor. If a general system of improvement were planned and carried into effect, it would be only granting us that to which we are in every manner entitled. Precedents have been established by the government themselves under which this demand can be made; but unless it is asked for, and that in an unmistakeable manner, it will never be granted. The demands of the city are of greater importance to Victorians than are the private schemes and machinations of its representatives. The electors will now watch with interest as to whether any action in so desirable a matter will be taken by them during the present session. If not it will be in order to ascertain why British Columbia should be treated different to her sister provinces in the Dominion.

THE IRISH LAND BILL.

The Scheme Proposed by Mr. Gladstone.

A Full House, but Lacking in Enthusiasm.

The long and anxiously looked for Irish Land Bill of Mr. Gladstone was propounded by the Grand Old Man in the Commons of the evening of the 16th. The unfortunate break in the wires on that evening and Saturday, until late in the evening, prevented THE TIMES laying a synopsis of the bill before its readers on either of these days.

A FULL HOUSE.

The cable dispatches inform us that there was a full house at 4 o'clock, and that at 5:25, when Mr. Gladstone arose, he was greeted with cheers. His voice at first was husky, but in a few minutes his throat cleared and he was heard with great distinctness in all parts of the chamber and galleries. He said the aim of the present endeavors of the government was directed towards securing among the people of Ireland the permanent restoration of social order. His proposals would greatly benefit the tenants of Ireland, but the landlords were the principal object of the measure although he thought that many of the landlords were most hostile to the Government's policy. He wished to make an emphatic denial that it was his intention to ask the Scotch and English to run any pecuniary risk on account of the landlords of Ireland. The history of Ireland was one long indictment against landowners. Agrarian crime had originated and increased under the absenteeism of landlords and the raising of rents as their expenses while away from Ireland increased. Oppression wedded to misery had hideous progeny. Crime had been endowed with vitality to perpetuate itself and hand down its miserable inheritance from generation to generation. England was not clear of responsibility, for the deeds of Irish landlords were English deeds. "With the power in our hands, we have looked on and done nothing."

AFTER THE UNION

absenteeism became general as the national sentiment ceased to have a beneficial influence on relations between landlords and tenants, union itself was obtained, against the sense and wish of every class by wholesale bribery and unblushing intimidation. The land act was intended to go into effect the same day on which the home rule bill would become operative. It could not go on without the operation of the other, which would provide a legislature in Ireland to appoint statutory authority to deal with landed estates, and act between vendor and purchaser. Purchases could be made through the issue of £150,000,000 of 3 per cent. stock at par. These new Irish consols might with the consent of the treasury, be commuted for stock of lower denomination. If the stock could be issued forthwith scrip of equal value would be issued for the purpose; the landlords to sell out under its act were confined to agricultural holdings and did not include mansions having demesne and woods.

THE STATE AUTHORITIES

acting between the peasant and landowner would purchase the land from the latter and put the peasant in possession as absolute proprietor subject to the annual rent charge until the total payments equalled the purchase money. The State would not force the small occupiers to become proprietors in districts where the population was congested. The State would have power to decide whether expropriation of the too crowded lands shall be compulsory. Nobody except the immediate landlords would have the option to sell incumbrances, and he must sell by forfeiture, and not at an open market for himself. Applications to sell would have to be made by all the tenants of the estate, and all the applications and sales would be registered. Applicants would be required to give security for the costs in certain cases. The land commission would be empowered to refuse applications.

THE BASIS OF PRICES

would depend on the rental. The fixed prices and judicial rental of 1845 (?) would be the standard in all cases where in the land to be sold was then fixed. In all other cases the land commission would have power to arrive at the price by comparing other judicial rentals with Griffith's valuations. The land commission would also be allowed to examine the state of the books concerning estates for ten years back. Twenty years' rental would be the nominal basis of purchase. In exceptional cases twenty two years' rental would make the purchase. Applications for sale would not be received after March 1st, 1890. £10,000,000 of stock would be issued during 1887; £20,000,000 in 1888; £21,000,000 in 1889, and £20,000,000 in each of the succeeding years. When the proposals were first placed before the speaker's colleagues he proposed to raise £130,000,000 immediately.

CHAMBERLAIN AND TREVELYAN

objected to this as a wholesale issue which would depreciate values. He therefore thanked both gentlemen for having given him occasion to reconsider that original proposition. He now thought it was an error to ask forthwith for anything like an outside estimate and believed that by appointing a receiver for the general rents armed with sufficient authority to collect them, that the payment of the purchase money would be amply secured. The charge on the Irish exchequer would be £2,000,000 per annum, to meet which it would have to be able to levy rents amounting to £2,500,000 per annum, and this sum would be the first charge on the rents and taxes raised by the Irish Government. Adding to this the Imperial contributions and the sum paid to England by Ireland would be applied to any purpose until £60,000 was paid into the English exchequer. The present contribution of to England was £6,980,000, of which England paid back in Irish civil service and collection £4,840,000, the residue which seemed to represent an Imperial contribution for the army and navy. The national debt and the Imperial charge were £2,085,000. What did England do with it? As an instance, she sent an army of 26,000 men to Ireland and kept them there at an annual cost of £3,000,000, £915,000 more than the balance mentioned. That was a specimen of the economy of the system that the speaker wanted to root up.

MR. GLADSTONE COMMENDED THE SCHEME

to the strict, jealous, careful and unbiased examination of Englishmen. He was convinced that this would be recognized as a fitting part of an auspicious effort to sustain the plans of the British legislature for the welfare of what had long been, and the speaker hoped would ever be, under circumstances happier than heretofore, an integral part of Her Majesty's dominion. Mr. Gladstone spoke for an hour and thirty-five minutes and concluded amid great applause. His proposals do not imply the new issue of £180,000,000 in 3 per cents.; but only £50,000,000 from £180,000,000 in new 3's already authorized.

CHAMBERLAIN REPLIES TO GLADSTONE.

On Mr. Gladstone resuming his seat, he was loudly applauded. Mr. Chamberlain in replying to Mr. Gladstone began by reading a letter which he sent to Mr. Gladstone, when tendering his chief his resignation. In the letter Mr. Chamberlain stated that Mr. Gladstone's policy would throw a heavy burden on Great Britain, entailing enormous addition to the national debt and probable immediate increase of taxation, not to secure the union of the kingdom, but to purchase separation. Mr. Chamberlain then went on to say that the land proposals, although they had been modified since he had left the cabinet, would still impose a great burden on Great Britain, without sufficient security for loans advanced. The bill was calculated not so much to benefit tenants as a sop for the landlords. Although only £30,000,000 was to be issued, the option to sell was offered to land owners holding land valued at £150,000,000. Supposing that a full number of options to sell was offered to land owners holding land valued at £150,000,000—supposing that the full number of options to sell should be accepted, how would all the money be provided?

HE OPPOSED THE BILL ON PRINCIPLE

because it specially protected landlords If the Irish parliament was to be entrusted with the protection of the commercial classes and the maintenance of official order why could it not be trusted to protect landlords. The government was thrusting on Ireland a burden which no Irish member could declare a fair price to give for the landlord's right. The Irish people would regard the bargain as one imposed by a foreign country and would be justified in taking the first opportunity to repudiate it. If the bargain should be repudiated how would it be enforced? The government could not disregard the risk to British taxpayers under increasing depression in trade. Hundreds of thousands of hard workers in England would probably be thrown out of employment. While refusing to assist deserving crofters in Scotland and postponing the claims of English labor, could the government consistently grant large sums for the benefit of the Irish peasantry? [Cheers.] In conclusion Mr. Chamberlain said he was not an irreconcilable opponent of Mr. Gladstone's policy. If land proposals should be sufficiently modified he would be happy to be relieved of the duty of continuing his present attitude of opposition.

MR. PARNELL'S VIEWS.

Mr. Parnell said that not having had Mr. Chamberlain's advantage of a cabinet seat, he was not prepared to express a too confident opinion upon the merits and demerits of the scheme until he had seen the provisions of the bill. Mr. Chamberlain had spoken in deservedly complimentary terms of Mr. Davitt, and had expressed a desire to know the latter's opinion of the land purchase bill. Mr. Parnell assured Mr. Chamberlain that Davitt would not act from a motive of personal spite or jealousy [Parnellite cheers], but solely out of regard for Ireland. To the speaker it appeared that the appointment of Receiver-General was an unnecessary and absurd idea, because, according to the promised statement, receipts from customs and excise duties in Ireland will amount to within £20,000 of the total amount payable by Ireland to the Imperial exchequer. Would it not be if England took a lien upon the revenue collected by Irish authority, in the event of the customs failing to yield a sum sufficient to meet the Imperial charges? The appointment of the Receiver-General would be most offensive to Ireland, because it would show a reluctance to trust Irishmen, even for such a small sum as £20,000. The object of the Irish members was not to make the measure a party question, but by yielding as much as possible to settle once and for all, this troublesome, difficult and dangerous matter if Irish landlords threw out the measure, he hoped the offer to assist them with English credit would not be renewed, but that the bill for the government of Ireland would be pressed forward by itself.

PACIFIC STEAMSHIPS.

Better Class of Vessels to be Put on the Atlantic.

Sir Alexander Campbell's Opinion of the Pacific Ocean Trade.

In the course of a debate in the Ottawa Senate, on the 9th inst., upon a resolution for correspondence in relation to subsidizing of a line of steamships on the Pacific ocean, moved by Mr. Girard, Sir Alexander Campbell made some rather important official statements. He said he had no doubt that the completion of the C. P. R. would lead to the establishment, at an early date, of a system of rapid transit across the Atlantic, and the postoffice department was now preparing an advertisement for tenders for more rapid mail service between Liverpool and Quebec in summer, and Liverpool and Halifax in winter. The speed required for mail steamships would be increased from the present rate of twelve knots an hour, to fourteen or sixteen knots an hour, and the time of passage from Liverpool to Quebec would be REDUCED TO SIX DAYS.

Another result of the completion of the Pacific railway, he hoped, would be the early completion of a fast line of steamships on the Pacific ocean, between Vancouver and Japan, China and Australia. The propriety of aiding such a line of steamships had been brought before the Imperial government by Sir John Macdonald and Sir Geo. Stephen in order to enable them to compete successfully with the line plying from San Francisco. The Dominion government were that the subsidy of five hundred thousand dollars a year for ten years had been granted by the imperial authorities to the proposed steamship line, but there were telegrams to that effect, and official notification was probably on the way out. From knowledge gathered during a visit to San Francisco he (Sir Alexander) was not so sanguine as some were that there would be in the near future any considerable business done by a line of steamships on the Pacific Ocean, or that the Canadian Pacific Railway would derive any great amount of trade from that source. After speeches by Messrs Power, Nelson, Haythorne, and others, Mr. McInnes, of British Columbia, said he agreed with Sir Alexander Campbell, that the Asiatic trade which was expected to be attracted by the building of

was not of that magnitude or that importance that very many people supposed it would be. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company which was largely subsidized by the United States and Australian Governments, to carry mails between those countries and China, had refused to renew their contract last year, because it was unremunerative. He mentioned this to show that the great trade which the Canadian Pacific Company appeared to expect from the Orient was not likely to be realized. The Panama canal was well under way and likely to be completed within the next two or three years, and the opening of that canal would revolutionize the world, and, in his opinion, the success of the Pacific Railway would depend upon the settlement of the Northwest and British Columbia.

THE IDAHO'S CASE.

Testimony of Captain Carroll—The Case Closed for the Present.

The evidence for the prosecution in the Idaho case was completed on Friday.

THE DEFENCE

was opened by Mr. McNaught, for the steamer, who stated that he expected to show that the barrels taken on board here on the 8th were stores, and landed at Kassan Bay; that a man named Langtry shipped them from Juneau to Kassan bay as furs; that when they were put on board at Victoria, Capt. Carroll was at the theatre; that the cannery does not nor never did belong to Capt. Carroll; but that the owner's were indebted to him for money loaned. Evidence in support of these versions of a strong nature was adduced. The following is

CAPT. CARROLL'S EVIDENCE:

Capt. Carroll's testimony on the one point was as follows: "At Juneau, a short time after I arrived, a gentleman came into my room, introduced himself as Langtry, and said he wanted to send two tons of freight to the cannery at Cape Fox. I told him it would cost him $100. He thought that too much. I told him I could not make a special trip in there for less, but as I was going to take on a load of salmon at Kassan bay I could leave his freight there cheaper. He said all right, and told me he had 14 barrels and a number of bundles of furs. I then went to Douglas island and remained there six hours. From there we went to Killisino, remained there 17 hours, discharged general merchandise and lots of barrels. Then we went to Sitka, arriving there on the 17th. Remained there thirty-six and one-half hours. The up freight was then all discharged. We took in freight there. Col. French, the Collector of Alaska, came down with us. Capt. Waterbury came down with us as far as Juneau. We arrived at Juneau on our downward trip on the 19th, and remained there six hours and a quarter. We took on these fourteen barrels, some bundles of skins and forty-nine or fifty salmon barrels. On leaving Juneau we went to Wrangel, arriving there December 21. Then we went to Kassan bay, arriving there at 11 p. m. on the night of the 21st. We took on 30 barrels of salmon and discharged the barrels we took on at Juneau, and the skins—nothing else that I know of. Col French was on board at this time. The only interest I have in Kassan Bay is that parties doing business there owe me some money. Mike Costello and Fred Lynch borrowed the money. Costello is dead. Lynch is still there, in the fishing business and trading post. I loaned this money to them two years ago. The property belong to a widow named Baranovitch. When I let them have the money they were to turn the salmon over to me to a cure me. When we landed the freight there I may have told the men to handle it carefully. I never said at that time the barrels contained furs and that I would bang more. From there we went to Tongas, then to Nanaimo, and Victoria, on December 26th at 9 a. m.; remained two hours; went from there to Port Townsend. There was no freight omitted from the manifest at Victoria that I know of."

IN REBUTTAL.

Here the defence rested, and the prosecution first called in rebuttal E. A. Gardner, who testified: Tie Yuen's opium factory is on Government street in Victoria. Van Valkenberg's butcher soop is on the same street, but nearer the wharf than the opium house, so that supplies from the market to the ship would naturally pass by the opium factory."

Capt. Carroll, recalled: "Never was in a Chinese opium house in my life, and never was in Chinatown in Victoria but once, and then with Wm. Governeur Morris, who went to employ a servant."

By consent of counsel on both sides it was agreed to present the arguments to the court in written or printed briefs during the month of May.

To-day's Despatches

THE BISHOP OF MADRID SHOT.

MADRID, April 18.—At 10:30 o'clock this morning, while the Bishop of Madrid was ascending the steps leading to the entrance of the Cathedral, he was shot with a revolver by a priest standing at the top of the steps; the ball entering his abdomen. This was followed by another shot which wounded the Bishop in the side; whereupon the wounded man fell on the steps. The priest then descended the steps and fired still another shot, which took effect in the Bishop's thigh. The Bishop was then borne in an unconscious condition to a private chamber in the Cathedral, where the last sacraments for the dying were administered to him. The priest was arrested. The man who fired the shot was recently dismissed from priesthood, and had fruitlessly applied to the Bishop to be re-instated. Queen Christina has inquired as to the Bishop's condition. The Pope has telegraphed his blessing. The Bishop is still alive. The priest made an attempt to commit suicide. It being Palm Sunday the Cathedral was more than usually crowded by worshippers, and when the fearful work of the priest was realized the furious mob followed the carriage in which he was conveyed to prison by gen d'armes, whose presence alone prevented his being lynched. The motive for the crime was revenge.

CONDEMNED IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, April 18.—A meeting of tenant farmers at Kelgsail was held to-day, and the purchase bill was denounced as simply a measure for the relief of landlords. It was declared that if farmers got their holdings on the basis of a four years' rental, their position would be very little improved, as they are without the necessary capital with which to obtain a start. A resolution was adopted asking the Parnellite members of Parliament to oppose the bill.

AN OFFER ACCEPTED.

Four hundred tenants of Earl Bessborough's, Kilkenney estate, held a meeting to-day to consider the Earl's offer of reduction from ten per cent. The tenants asked for a reduction of 33 per cent. At to-day's meeting 335 tenants voted in favor of accepting the Earl's terms.

PLOTTING REBELLION

PARIS, April 19.—Le Temps states that it is rumored the Greek consul at Candia, Crete, with the approval of his government has been actively engaged in plotting a rebellion among the people, a majority of whom are Greeks, against Turkish authority, and that the other powers have asked their respective governments to interfere to prevent the movement from being carried out.

AN AUSTRIAN TOWN DESTROYED.

VIENNA, April 18.—The town of Stog, on the Galesia, has been almost completely destroyed by fire. The number of houses burned is about six hundred. Many persons were killed. The inhabitants are destitute.

CHOLERA AT BRINDISI.

ROME, April 18.—The sanitary board admits that Asiatic cholera has broken out at Brindisi, and has ordered that all arrivals at other Adriatic ports, from Brindisi, be quarantined.

WARLIKE GREECE.

ATHENS, April 19.—The Greek troops are being pushed to the front as rapidly as possible. The Russian minister to Greece has departed for Lividia to see the Czar, in pursuance of urgent orders.

PRIMROSE DAY.

LONDON, April 19.—To-day being Primrose Day, the Conservatives everywhere appear decked with flowers. The political crisis is used to emphasize the anniversary of the great Tory leader.

U. S. LAND LAWS.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A special from Washington to the Herald says there is a rumor that the President has been making one of those careful and laborious studies to which he is given of the public land question, and that he has become so thoroughly acquainted with the prevalence of land fraud and misuse of present land laws for land grabbing by speculators and corporations, and is convinced of the necessity of a thorough reform of both land laws and lands administration. He will presently send a special message to Congress urging its immediate action in the way of reform, and the repeal of bad laws to help him in saving the still remaining lands for homesteads for the people.

TRAFFIC RESUMED.

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—The Bridge and Tunnel and the belt line companies have at last engaged a sufficient number of men to man all their engines and switches, and they now announce their readiness to do all transporting across the river and between the various railroad yards in East St. Louis, which may be required. Their inability hitherto to engage full crews has been the only impediment to the full resumption of operations by the different roads, and now that this has been removed freight business on the east side of the river has resumed its normal condition.

BOYCOTTING BUTCHERS.

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—Ritter & Horse, butchers, were called upon by the committee of the K. of L. yesterday, who requested them to cease supplying Vice-President Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific Railway, with meat, under pain of being boycotted. The senior member of the firm informed the committee that he could not accede to their demands; that Hoxie was a good customer and he would continue to fill his orders so long as Hoxie should continue his patronage.

WILL HE SUCCEED?

The Londen Standard, the recognized semi-official organ of the Tory party in England, as might be expected, is very severe in its hostility to Mr. GLADSTONE. In its issue of March 30th, it says: England, we think, has never before had to gaze impotently on such a spectacle as that which has been before our eyes for weeks past. The head of the Liberal party undertakes to form a Government and at the very outset is met by a point-blank refusal to cooperate with him on the part of the leading members of the older and, as we believe, the weightier section of the party. Undismayed, he gets together such colleagues as he can. Then follows an interval, in which, by bits and scraps, the product of his own private meditations, and of his connection with the leading spirit of the Irish opposition, is disclosed to the rest of what was nominally a cabinet. Distrusted and suspected from the beginning, the scheme, when at last it was formally before them, was found so unacceptable that two other leaders—this time belonging to the Radical wing of the composite party—at once resigned; and as if to put beyond the reach of doubt the pronounced nature of their hostility, they have withdrawn to seats below the gangway. Let us see, then, who are ranged against Mr. GLADSTONE. There are the Conservatives to a man. There are all the Whigs who sympathise with Lord HARTINGTON and Mr. GOSCHEN and Mr. FORSTER, and all the Radicals who think as Mr. CHAMBERLAIN and Mr. TREVELYAN think. Every hour may bring news of fresh defections. Who, then, remains at Mr. GLADSTONE's side? Who are willing to endorse his draft? Are the Radicals of the rank and file? By no means. Hardly a perceptible percentage of them would accept the augmentation of the national debt which Mr. GLADSTONE's purchase scheme is likely to involve; and few of them, we gather, are conscientiously persuaded that the project of a separate parliament is either safe or unavoidable. The moment Mr. CHAMBERLAIN reveals his counter plan there will be a rallying point for the malcontents of the advanced school. And what of the Moderates? What of the Scotch Liberals? The former—if they have any toleration for the Home Rule idea—will make their effective assent to it conditional on a measure of relief and security for the landlords, which would be intolerable to Economists. But we waste words; there is no pretence, no disguise about the matter. It is to the Parnellites, and to the Parnellites alone, that Mr. GLADSTONE looks for the majority. The men whose gospel it was, according to Mr. GLADSTONE's own doctrine, to march through rapine to dismemberment, are to be arbiters of the situation; the prime minister of England is to suit his proposals for setting up an Irish parliament to the wishes of the very faction with whose demands it would be fatal—again according to Mr. GLADSTONE's doctrine—for any statesman to deal who had not a devoted majority of non-Irish members at his back. Yet Mr. GLADSTONE has apparently made up his mind to go through with the adventure he recklessly entered on. He trusts to effect by his powers of persuasion, by finesse, and by chance combinations, what the expressed sense of a vast majority of the people of the United Kingdom is determined resolutely to oppose. No longer the chief of a party, he is content to manipulate fragments; to be the tool of a section whose only principle is a fixed, resolve, by any and every means, to obtain emancipation from Imperial control. The plan cannot succeed if the friends of the Union—Liberal and Conservative—are true to themselves and the cause they have to defend. Mr. GLADSTONE's position is so weak that nothing but watchfulness, and readiness, and combination are necessary to defeat his proposals. The blow can hardly be struck too soon, for every day adds to the mischief done by the countenance he gives to separatist aspirations and to the tolerance of nationalist lawlessness.

The Queen has been pleased to intimate her intention of opening the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, on Tuesday, May 4.

A DISTORTION.

The Columbian, a government organ, copies the item from the Colonist in respect to Mr. T. DAVIE's subscription of $1000 guarantee to the branch railway, and says:

"In the interest of truth we must say that the Colonist is entirely mistaken. The fund toward which Mr. Davie subscribed $1000 was raised to pay the bonus promised by the government, without any Chinese restriction clause. The City Council first offered to pay the contractor the difference between white and Chinese labor, but when that offer was refused the people raised the whole $37,500 and offered it to the syndicate unconditionally as the only means of securing the railway. While making this correction we wish to remark that any newspaper or party that would endeavor to make capital against Mr. Davie for his generous act in subscribing this amount is unworthy of notice and deserving of unusual contempt."

The Colonist copies the last sentence of the above only. It knows it deliberately misrepresented the case in the first place, but it has never had the manliness to make a correction. Mr. T. DAVIE assisted at New Westminster in offering a bonus to, and putting a premium upon, Chinese labor. We have no intention of making political capital against Mr. DAVIE on this or any other matter; but we do intend that the truth shall be known. If a jackdaw masquerades in peacock's feathers, he runs the risk of exposure, "all samee" as the anti-Chinese politician who does not practice what he preaches. Mr DAVIE allowed Chinamen to be employed in the erection of his building on Bastion street and is now assisting in excluding white men from the New Westminister branch railway. Mr. HIGGINS, also a member of the third party, is another shallow hypocrite on this question, and recently had cheap Mongolians beautifying his palace in Regent Park. What political humbugs these men be?

ADVISES RETALIATION.

The New York Sun is doing its utmost to widen the breach between Canada and the United States on the Fishery question. It considers it a national calamity that the position of the Department of State in regard to these rights does not seem to have been either firm or consistent. There is no reason, however, why the Administration should not take solid ground and not budge from it. Mr. FRYE and Mr. DINGLEY, and the American fishermen whose rights they represent, are right. Their position and that of the United States in the present phase of the question is entirely simple and tenable. * * If there is to be any exclusion or prohibition on the part of Canada, the United States should answer it by a return to the old retaliatory policy, or should see that such exclusion or prohibition or limitation of commercial intercourse is removed. * * The course laid out by Messrs. FRYE and DINGLEY according to the Sun, is perfectly plain. It doubts, however, if a recourse to it will be found necessary. The attention of the Imperial Government should be directed to the matter. Instead of taking Minister WEST's advice, Secretary BAYARD should give Minister WEST some advice. It is our impression "says the Sun," that Newfoundland tried to prohibit the exportation of bait some years ago, as it is trying now, and that the home Government sat upon that spirited trial. Doubtless the home Government will now hold back Canada and Newfoundland from their amusing attempts at a spirited and intimidating policy. If not, our Canadian friends must learn that they cannot get and that they have no right to any more commercial privileges than they give. So far as they shut us out they must be shut out themselves. The resolutions introduced by Mr. FRYE and Mr. DINGLEY, while in form asking for information, are really declaratory of the rights of our fishermen in Canadian waters. The State Department should take prompt action in the matter. Either the British Government must check the Canadian authorities from violating the general commercial convention between Great Britain and the United States, or the Canadians must come to reason of their own motion, or Canada must get as good as it sends. The United States Government has been taking a good deal of impudence from the Dominion people; it is high time for it to put its foot down with decision."

Dr. Arnott, of London, in the course of an interview, volunteers the opinion that the present system of house connection with sewers is infinitely worse than the old water-closet system. He thought the failure of the dry-earth system in Hamilton was due to the lack of proper system of inspection. How did the doctor come by this information? Has he not the fear of the medical health officer and his staff before his eyes?

The game of hazard, which is prohibited in every club in England, and not even permitted in tripots in France, flourishes in Berlin; so much so that the Union Club, in consequence of several recent grave scandals, have determined to put a stop to it. Germans may be slow gamblers, but they play uncommonly heavy at times, if it be true that one petty prince lost $125,000 in one evening, having previously dropped $500,000 and a baron a trifle of $57,000 on another night.

It is now pretty certain than Hon. Peter Mitchell has gone wholly over to the Opposition. He has been somewhat discontented for a long time, but was exercising considerable patience, and seemed loth to go out from the portals of the party which had long been his political domicile. But when the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries—which the Honorable Peter looks upon as a piece of his personal baggage—was given to Foster, it proved the last straw, and he couldn't stand it.

THE BEST

Hair restorative in the world is HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. It cures all diseases of the scalp, and stimulates the hair glands to healthful action. It stops the falling of the hair; prevents its turning gray; cures baldness, and restores youthful color and freshness of appearance to heads already white with age. The following are a few illustrations of what is done by

HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian
HAIR RENEWER.

Mrs. HUNSBERRY, 344 Franklin Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., after a severe attack of Erysipelas in the head, found her hair—already gray—falling off so rapidly that she soon became quite bald. One bottle of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER brought it back as soft, brown and thick as when she was a girl.

Mr. KESLING, an old farmer, near Warsaw, Ind., had scarcely any hair left, and that little there was of it had become nearly white. One bottle of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER stopped its falling out, and gave him a thick, luxuriant head of hair, as brown and fresh as he ever had.

Mrs. A. T. WALL, Greenfield, Cheshire, Eng., writes: "I have found the greatest benefit from the use of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER, it having restored my hair, which was rapidly falling off and returned its original color."

Dr. EMIL SEPP, Detroit, Mich., certifies that "HALL'S HAIR RENEWER is excellent for hair growing, and gives back the natural color to faded and gray hair."

Mrs. S. E. ELLIOTT, Glenville, W. Va., says: "One bottle of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER restored my hair to its natural, youthful color."

No injurious substances enter into the composition of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER, and it is not a dye. Its vegetable ingredients render it in the highest degree beneficial to the scalp as a preventive of disease. Its effects are natural and lasting, and it does not make the hair dry and brashy, like the so-called restoratives compounded with alcohol.

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE

is, in four respects, superior to all others.
1st—It will produce a rich, natural color, brown or black, as desired.
2d—The color so produced is permanent, cannot be washed off, and will not soil anything with which it comes in contact.
3d—It is a single preparation, and more convenient of application than any other hair or whisker dye.
4th—It contains no deleterious ingredients, as do many preparations offered for like use.

BOYS AND GIRLS

How Mamma Caught a Monkey.

[Youth's Companion.]

MONKEY. BABY.

"So, that's one way of catching a monkey," said Mamma Hanley, shutting her book.

"They haven't got much sense, then," said Herbie. "If they had, they'd pull their paws out and turn the bottle downside up and get the corn that way. I guess that's a fish story about a monkey, mamma. I don't believe they'd be so foolish. I don't believe anything would."

"For answer, Mamma Hanley did a funny thing. She took a china vase off the mantlepiece and dropped a piece of candy in it, and set it where the 16-months-old baby, May, would see it.

Then they all watched her—Mamma Hanley and Bee and Lulu and Herbie.

Baby May's bright eyes soon spied the vase, in a minute the candy. She put in her wee hand, but when it was doubled into a wee fist, with the candy in it, she couldn't get it out. And she wouldn't, no she would not let go the candy.

"How about the monkey story, Herbie?" asked Mamma Hanley, and they all began to laugh. "Come, baby, open your hand now."

But baby wouldn't open her hand; she wanted the candy. The poor little wrist got red, and pretty soon the baby began to cry, and still she kept her fist doubled tight up.

"I believe I'll have to break the vase," said Mamma Hanley; and I really think she would if the baby hadn't just then thumped it against the table leg, and shivered it in pieces herself.

"Dare!" said she; and so she got her candy.

"Well, monkeys and babies are all the same," said Herbie.

But Mamma Hanley doesn't think so.

A Strange Tree.

BOTTLE TREES.

A gentleman traveling in New South Wales discovered one of the most curious of nature's freaks in vegetation. It was a group of bottle trees. Do they not look like it in shape? It might be a round bottle with a bunch of lilacs stuck into it. Australia is a country full of strange things, but here is certainly one of the oddest of them all. There were nine trees in the group. They were from thirty-five to sixty feet high. They are of immense bulk around, too. Dr. Bennett measured one that was thirty-five feet in circumference. The trees are covered with long, sharp leaves.

These strange growths were never known until about 1872. When the cask is tapped a sweet sap flows from it, something like sugar-water, only more gummy. It is a refreshing drink. The bottle trees are old, very old. They are believed to have been growing there, just as they are, for thousands of years. Before there were any human beings at all in those regions it is thought they were there, looking down upon the strange monsters that peopled the earth and waters in those ages.

The Keely Motor Again.

Is there anything in it? Doubtful. Still, an engineer who professes to have examined it, writes a communication to The New York Sun to which he signs his name, and represents it to be the most miraculous motor of modern times. The motor power, according to this authority, must be an agency entirely new to mechanics. This power is evolved by what Mr. John W. Keely calls an "intersetheric liberator."

All parts of the machinery were examined by a committee of disinterested gentlemen. To evolve the power Mr. Keely uses a mysterious arrangement of brass globe, and various glass and metallic plates and frames. A disc of steel was called a "wave plate." There were also two tuning forks. One was placed near the brass globe, the other was removed with the "wave plate" about twelve feet away. Keely drew a violin bow across the tuning forks, and that seemed to liberate the force, whatever it was. No trace of steam, electricity or any known agency could be discovered. But when the iron machinery connected with the "liberator" was set in motion, it showed a pressure of 25,000 pounds to the square inch. So it is said.

At the conclusion of the exhibition a mechanical engineer "not interested financially" in Keely's schemes, offered a set of resolutions which were unanimously adopted. They declare that the test had been fair and wholly successful, and that without understanding the invention, they gave it as their judgment that Keely had discovered a new force. Moreover, they deemed it an "act of justice" towards him to make this statement. Probably the mechanical engineer was the writer of the article in The Sun.

Meanwhile, the proper state of mind to regard to this alleged motor seems to be that of suspended judgment. It is the fashion for the newspapers to pronounce Keely a gorgeous humbug.

Very probable. So was the inventor of steam power in his day. When Ben Franklin went out to draw electricity from the clouds with his famous experiment of the kite and key, he took his little grandson along, to pretend he was kite-flying for fun, so that his neighbors would not laugh at him. If Keely is humbugging us, we shall find it out fast enough. No need, from the heights of our superior wisdom, to pass judgment on him beforehand.

—The returns from the Nanaimo custom house for the first quarter of this year were: Dutiable goods, $36,820; free goods, $1451; Canadian goods, $4622. Total, $42,893. Import duty, $8,318.10. Exports—61,500 tons of coal, value $246,000; 1400 gallons oil, value $350.

—A representative of the striking Seattle miners has been in Nanaimo collecting subscriptions for the men, who have now been out of work for a sufficient length of time to eat up all their savings. The people of Nanaimo have responded liberally.

—Mr. Jake Shwartz, of the firm of Shwartz & Ripinsky, was arrested in Nanaimo for obtaining money on false pretences. At the time he was canvassing for orders, and made a practice of securing $5 to $20 on each suit of clothing. When arrested he had $70 on his person. He was to be tried on Saturday, and most likely would be acquitted.

—It is pleasing to know that the tripartite agreement for the construction of the New Westminster branch has been reconstructed. The nature of the change from the old agreement, has not been made public; but one of the delegation stated that it would simply amount to the Government paying the difference between the cost of white and Chinese labor.

—The publication of the correspondence in the Hicks matter on Saturday caused quite a sensation in the city. The police authorities were in no way responsible for their appearance in THE TIMES, nor did we refer to them for any information on the subject. The first intimation they had of our being in possession of the Florida letters was their publication.

—Mr. Cunningham, the axehandle representative, is reported to have denied the imputation that he ran away to the church for protection when the boys were after him. Nor is it true that his constituents are about to present him with an ebony walking stick, designed to represent an axehandle. These stories are the base inventions of his enemies. The estimable James was to have returned home this morning.

—At this season of the year a number of our citizens are devoting much attention to beautifying their lawns and grounds, by cultivating flowers and shrubbery. In many instances complaints are made of boys entering grounds, without permission, and destroying the grounds as well as the flowers and shrubbery. It is to be hoped some of these young vandals will be caught and such an example made of them as will deter others from continuing so bad a practice.

The Standard puts it forcibly and correctly: "We supposed that the Colonist, as all respectable newspapers are, was an integral portion of polite society, but it must be confessed that while the name of the keeper of a notorious Broad street brothel is kept flaring in its advertising columns it deserves no place but among its lewd patrons. What is the press coming to when a leading paper will prostitute itself to such purposes? That such a thing should occur is not less a reproach to the intelligence, morality and good taste of the community than the existence of houses of ill-fame in the center of the city."

DR. ASH DEAD.

Our citizens were taken by surprise on Sunday morning when they learned of the death, on the night previous, of Dr. John Ash. He was apparently in good health during the day, but in the evening complained of dizziness and in a short time became unconscious. He never rallied and died in a fit of apoplexy at 11 o'clock. Drs. Helmcken and Renwick were called in, but their efforts were unavailing. Deceased was a native of Yorkshire, England, and came to Victoria in the year 1862. For sometime after his arrival, he acted as an agent for the purchase of spars for the French Government, and did not begin the practise of his profession until some years after. He represented Metchosin and Esquimalt District in the Vancouver Assembly, and later Confederation was elected to represent Comox in the first parliament. He was appointed Provincial Secretary in the DeCosmos government in December, 1872, and occupied the same position in the Walkem administration until January, 1876, when that government resigned. Dr. Ash represented Comox continuously from Confederation until the last general election, in 1882, when he declined re-election. Since then he has visited England several times, and had settled down quietly to the practice of his profession when the summons came. He was a man of strong character, possessed of ample means, and a disposition to enjoy life. His second wife died a few years ago, and he had no other relative in the province. His death will be universally regretted.

LAID TO REST.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Richard Hall, the unfortunate victim of the melancholy accident which occurred on Friday, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Mr. John Kinsman, father of the deceased lady. The funeral cortege proceeded to the Methodist church, Pandora street, which was filled to overflowing by the friends of the deceased and others who had gathered to pay the last tokens of respect to her memory, and many were unable to obtain admittance. The impressive services for the dead, were performed by the Revs. Messrs. Percival and Dower, after which the cortege, which was over a quarter of a mile in length, reformed, and slowly wended its way to the silent city of the dead, at Ross Bay. There a large number of people, who had preceded the procession on foot, were also gathered to pay their last tributes of respect to the dead. Rev. Mr. Percival engaged in prayer and the remains were then consigned to their last resting place in the bosom of mother earth, there to remain until Gabriel's trumpet shall call all to meet their God. Until then the adjoining sea will sing a grand requiem for the repose of the lamented dead. The members of the I. O. O. F. attended in a body. The following gentlemen were the pall bearers: S. T. Styles, C. N. Cameron, Walter Chambers, Robt. Irving, W. J. Goepel, and W. Shears.

THE PACIFIC CARRIAGE WORKS.

Mr. J. R. Johnstone, of the Pacific Carriage Works, New Westminster, is in this city, en route for Ontario, where he proposes manufacturing goods for the above works. The vehicles will be shipped to Messrs. Reid & Currie, who recently purchased the Pacific Carriage Works from Messrs. Johnstone & Smith, the latter retaining his position as superintendent of the carriage department for the new firm, who are well and favorably known, not only in the Royal City, but throughout the entire district, as upright, honest, hard-working, and very deserving young men, who are certain to build up for themselves a large and lucrative trade.

NO CATCHEE.

This morning about 5 o'clock officer Haughton saw a Chinaman with a bag, on Cormorant street. Giving chase, the bag was thrown away and the thief was lost among Kwong Lee's cabins. The bag contained a fine goose, the owner of which has since been found. John should wait until the cops are fewer in number, when robbing hen-roosts will be to him only a pleasant pastime. Just now they are too plentiful and too vigilant.

HE WAS DISGUSTED.

Mr. Stewart Leckie, of Whatcom, W. T., went to Coal Harbor last week to realize on some of the yarns of prosperity which come floating across the line every day. He went, he saw, he returned—disgusted. Mr. Leckie says the railroad company is selling off Coal Harbor and will pass on to English Bay, boom that off, then connect a railroad with Bellingham Bay. So says the Whatcom Reveille.

FRENCH LEAVE.

A sore-necked half-breed named John Scott, who came over from the Sound to drive a cab in this city, has suddenly departed for fresh fields and pastures new. Before shaking the dust of Victoria from his feet, he managed to put $400 in pocket, borrowed from Mrs. Swanson, widow of Capt. Swanson, on the security of property that he never possessed.

NAVAL SALE TOMORROW.

Omnibusses will leave Mr. Frank Campbell's corner to-morrow, (Tuesday) morning at 10 o'clock, reaching Esquimalt in time for purchasers to attend the sale of naval, victualling, medical and war office stores, to be conducted by Messrs. J. P. Davies & Co., catalogues of which can be had at the naval yard or from the auctioneers.

A BRIG LOST.

A telegram from San Francisco to-day says that the steamer Alameda, Capt. Morse, which has just arrived from Australia, brought the Captain and crew of the brig Levi Stevens, which sailed some time since from Tacoma. The brig was wrecked off the Sandwich Islands in the South Pacific Ocean.

ANOTHER BUSH.

Our article of Saturday last referring to one Charles Bush is not the genial Charles Bush of the Deluge Fire Engine. A similarity of names sometimes leads to confusion and wrong opinions.

BE SURE AND SEE THEM.

A car load of carriages from John Campbell's carriage factory, London, are on exhibition and for sale in Sehl's building, Langley street, second door north of Fort. See that you get in the right premises. *

Perfect soundness of body and mind is possible only with pure blood. Leading medical authorities of all civilized countries endorse Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood-purifying medicine in existence. It vastly increases the working and productive powers of both hand brain.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are suited to every age. Being sugar-coated they are easy to take, and though mild and pleasant in action, are thorough and searching in effect. Their efficacy in all disorders of the stomach and bowels is certificed to by eminent physicians, prominent clergymen, and many of our best citizens.

POLICE COURT.

(Before E. Johson, S. M.)

Mary, a Songish Indian, drunk, forfeited $5 bail.

Patrick Daly, who was released from jail on Saturday, after serving a month for theft, immediately got on a bender and while under the influence broke his arm and was finally run into the cooler. He was remanded for a week to give him an opportunity of leaving the city.

Kittie, a Hydah Indian, drunk, fined $5.

Billy, a Hydah Indian, assaulting Officer Welch while in the discharge of his duty, was given three months imprisonment with hard labor.

Peter Ryan, charged with being of unsound mind, was remanded for three days for medical examination.

Maude Hastings, Annie Buckley, Mable Davenport, Nettie Holt, and Ah Jim, on remand, charged with stealing $30 and sundry articles of value from Thos. Tansey.

Supt. Bloomfield said that a witness whose evidence would go to prove that Thos. Tansey had visited the house of the prisoners was not present. He also stated that it was in consequence of information given by one of the prisoners that the vest and watch were found. He would rest the case for the prosecution without producing further evidence.

Thos. Tansey, cross-examined by Mr. Walls—Was never in the house before; am not in the habit of frequenting such houses; had not to his knowledge been to any other house on Broad street that night; had carefully examined the house and premises of the prisoners; he did not see an entrance from Broad street into the yard or a gate from the yard into a vacant lot in the rear; he examined the house and yard twice; did not notice that the w. c. was an unused one.

To Mr. Wilson: Did not remember in what position he was lying when he woke up, but thought he was lying against the fence next to the London House yard; he might have gone to some other house that evening; did not recollect removing any of his garments that evening; excessive drinking had affected him for about two years; he had a spree about every three or four months.

To His Honor: It was not possible for him to have climbed into the yard while in an unconscious condition; had been in the yards of other Broad street houses on previous occasions; the other yards had passage ways leading into them.

Officer Lindsay, cross-examined by Mr. Walls: Had carefully examined the yard of the prisoners house since the night of the robbery; there was a passage way leading from Broad street through to the vacant lot in the rear, and by passing through a door the yard of No. 4 could be entered; he had examined the closet and thought it was an unused one.

Sergt. Flewin submitted a plan of the premises and explained that the house occupied by the prisoners was in reality two houses connected as one. The passage way from Broad street led to the vacant lot in the rear of No. 5, and a door in the rear led into the yard of No. 4, and the yard in which Tansey found oimself was in rear of No. 4. The gate at the rear afforded access through the vacant lot to the yards of the houses as far back as Dr. Trimble's old residence.

The magistrate discharged the Chinaman, Ah Jim, and gave the four women prisoners an opportunity to make a statement.

Maude Hastings said she was innocent of the charge and had never seen the man Tansey until he came to the house with Officer McLaren.

Annie Buckley said that after breakfast she went riding with Nettie Holt. After returning had dinner and all four of the prisoners went riding again and had not returned more than an hour and a half when the officer and the man came to the house. She had never met Tansey before, and did not associate with men like him. That was all she had to say.

Mabel Davenport said that on Monday night she answered a knock at the door and found it was officer McLaren and Tansey. The officer stated the charge and asked if she had seen Tansey before. They asked Tansey if he remembered being in their house that evening, and he said no. Nettie Holt and the officer then searched the yard, but found nothing. On Wednesday, about 1 or 2 o'clock, she went into the yard to get a wash-tub, and entering the closet where the tub was she found the vest lying on the floor; called Nettie Holt and showed it to her; she ordered it to be left there and sent her for the police.

Nettie Holt said that on Monday night officer McLaren and Tansey came to her house and said that Tansey had lost his watch and money; she said it was a mistake, as a man like Tansey could not enter her house; she showed the officer and the man into the yard, and searched but found nothing; she opened the closet door but saw nothing; she found the mark of a man's foot on the trunk upon which he had stepped to climb over the fence; did not believe the man told the truth, as he could not enter her yard after 8 o'clock; the gate was open in the day-time from 10 a. m. to 7:30 or 8 o'clock p. m., when it was closed by the Chinaman; the man's coat was covered with whitewash, but there was no whitewash in her yard; on Tuesday morning she heard the policeman had been there again; she gave Mr. Bloomfield all the information she could; on Wednesday Mabel Davenport discovered the vest and watch in the closet; ordered her ladies not to touch it and reported to the police; officer Lindsay came and took the vest and other articles away; the vest was not there up to Wednesday morning, and must have been placed there between 10 and 12 o'clock on Wednesday; did not believe the man had been in her yard or slept there; if he had the Chinaman would have seen him.

Ah Jim, sworn.—Was servant to Nettie Holt; closed the back gate every night at 7:30 or 8 o'clock; opened the gate in the morning.

To Mr. Bloomfield—Closed the gate on Monday night at 7:30 or 8 o'clock; it was then dark; did not see any one in the yard.

The Magistrate took the case under advisement until Thursday.

Jim, a Chinaman, supplying liquor to Indians, remanded to to-morrow.

Gee Law Lung on the same charge was fined $50 and $1 costs.

FOR THE SUPERSTITIOUS.

The year 1886 is a Friday year. It came in on Friday, will go out on Friday and will have fifty-three Fridays. There are four months in the year that have five Fridays each; changes of the moon occur five times on Friday, and the longest and shortest day of the year each falls on Friday.

AN ALARMING RUMOR.

An absurd rumor that Mr. Dunsmuir had died suddenly spread rapidly through the city this forenoon. On enquiry, it was learned that there was not the slightest foundation for the alarming report. Mr. Dunsmuir is in good health, and long may he continue so is the fervent wish of all who know him.

—The four-oared sculling match, Saturday, between crews captained by T. Watson and W. H. Bontell, was won easily by the first named. Mr. J. Braden acted as starter and Mr. J. Seeley as course-clearer. Course was from H. B. wharf around Deadman's island and back.

FOR THESE WATERS.

The steamer Edith, which, it is stated has been purchased by the Washington Steamboat Company to carry the mails between Tacoma and Victoria, left San Francisco on the 14th, in command of Capt. Gilmore. The Edith is a propeller, and was built by Wm. Ralston, the California millionaire, at a cost of $80,000. She has been out of use for a number of years, lying in Oakland Creek. In Ralston's palmy days, prior to the breaking of the Bank of California, she was a marvel of elegance in her appointments.
